

Taj Lake Palace in Udaipur, is the most romantic hotel in the world. It was built in 1746 as the pleasure palace of Maharana Jagat Singh II.

The Palace is one of the most recognizable residences in the world, since it has been featured in many films and TV serials, most notably, the James Bond film, Octopussy and The Jewel in The Crown. After the young prince, Maharana Jagat Singh II of Udaipur, was caught frolicking at moonlight picnics with ladies of the 'zenana (the private chambers of the court)', he built his own pleasure palace on Lake Pichola. The Maharana (ruler) called this palace which he built in 1746, Jag Niwas. Jag Niwas is today the majestic and magnificent Taj Lake Palace of Udaipur.

The royal experience starts right from the time you arrive. A shower of rose petals and platter of refreshments greet you as you get off the boat at Sadar Ghat. Guards escort you under a sequined, embroidered umbrella to a traditional welcome.

The palace butlers are trained as knowledgeable hosts, taking care of royalty. They guarantee unforgettable moments at the palace and in the city.

Distinctly designed to capture a different mood and period, each of the 66 rooms and 17 suites at Taj Lake Palace in Udaipur offers stunning views. It's location on an island in the midst of a lake affords every room breathtaking views of the neighbouring City Palace, Aravalli Hills, Machla Magra Hills and Jag Mandir. You can partake in an insightful and entertaining walk around the palace, during which the historians keep you enthralled with rich and varied stories, and anecdotes of the kings and princes who reveled at this palace. Learn little known facts hidden in the palace corridors while sipping on a glass of sparkling wine.

The incomparable location provides the perfect backdrop for the exquisite cuisines at the elegant restaurants of Taj Lake Palace, which are open only to resident guests. Signature specialty restaurants at this palace serve a choice of cuisines - Neel Kamal for authentic Rajasthani and other dishes from India; and the seasonally open-air Bhairo for contemporary European delicacies. In the evening, indulge in signature martinis, cocktails and a grand collection of premium international spirits at the bar, Amrit Sagar.

Also offered is private dining in fairy tale settings, with handcrafted menus, a dedicated butler and impeccable service along with sparkling wine on the Gangaur, a 150-year-old boat used by the Maharanas (rulers). The palace, its stunning lake and regal views, guarantees culinary memories you will cherish forever.
