STORIES OF INDEPENDENCE, CHANDNI CHOWK AND HAVELI DHARAMPURA

It was Aug 16, 1947 (not Aug 15th) the atmosphere at the Red Fort was very festive. Apart from loud speakers and flags attached to every pole, Thandi Sarak in Chandni Chowk was fenced on both sides, as was the Red Fort – fenced with chairs for dignitaries. People were in a festive mood and the khomche wallahs (street food vendors) did roaring business. People loved to hear Nehru in his characteristic and charismatic style, slow and clear. Later, attending the National Independence Day ceremony at Red Fort and listening to Nehru's speech became a yearly ritual.

Even till date, the rooftops in Delhi's Chandni Chowk celebrate Independence day with huge enthusiasm. Rooftops are abuzz with families flying kites, dancing to Hindi music with patriotic fervour and throwing big lunch parties.

Haveli Dharampura is a restored 19 century mansion set in a quiet alley right in the heart of Chandni Chowk in Old Delhi. The location gives you the opportunity to get a feel of the Mughal era, delight in the sights and sounds of old Delhi, explore the bazaars
